Testimonial

"We've been participating in the CIHS for ten years since 2009. We've been in this business for almost 15 years now. We're an American based company. We sell to over 65 countries around the world. It's a really great show for us. We've met lots of potential customers with good quality. Our existing customers also come to visit this show and look for new products, new innovation, and new designs. We are looking for people from all over the world, mostly Asian customers and those from Australia, New Zealand etc."

High value added programme

"Digital leading the new future" Cross-Border E-Commerce Forum

With the gradual improvement of the epidemic situation, the shift from traditional trade to online transactions has become a trend, and the demand for cross-border e-commerce exports has grown even more significantly. In the context of such times, the hardware industry needs to follow the current tide and seize this golden opportunity. The forum will invite international first-class consulting companies, cross-border e-commerce platforms and leading testing institutions to analyse the latest global hardware industry tendency, interpret the hottest industry topics and discuss how to seize the golden opportunities in the hot cross-border e-commerce market in 2022.

Business matchmaking

A comprehensive business platform is set up by CIHS to satisfy exhibitors and high-quality buyers with purchasing demand from the hardware industry. Through the preliminary research on both supply and demand requirements, CIHS will launch the one-on-one matchmaking programme for exhibitors to meet target buyers onsite with the purpose of improving participation efficiency and providing value added exhibition opportunities.
