PMRExpo 2022: from November 22 to 24 in Cologne

For three days, the international trade fair PMRExpo will once again be the meeting place for all experts from the public authorities and organisations with safety tasks (BOS) as well as from the energy industry and the relevant industry. The 22nd edition of the trade fair for all areas related to Professional Mobile Radio (PMR) – thus professional mobile communications – will take place from 22 to 24 November 2022 at Koelnmesse. Above all, the mix of lectures, specialist forums and the actual exhibition in Hall 10.2 makes this leading trade fair for secure communication interesting for the different visitor groups. PMRExpo is powered by PMeV – a network of experts for operational and safety-critical communication solutions in mobile professional applications. Its members are manufacturers, system and application solutions, network operators, users, consultants as well as other professionals and experts.

As Europe's leading trade fair for secure communication, PMRExpo 2022 offers an attractive platform for companies in the fields of telecommunications, application solutions, control center and security technology, infrastructure elements, transportation and traffic, vehicle equipment, device accessories and relevant services for safety-critical communication and property radio.

Trade visitors from more than 35 nations will have the opportunity to follow a valuable lecture program with compact knowledge over three days with different focuses. At the Specialist Forums, Summit lectures and the Speakers' Corner, they can learn about current issues and trends and participate in discussions.

As in previous years, EW Medien und Kongresse GmbH expects approx. 4,500 trade visitors from the "blue light organisations", local authorities and industry representatives. More than 30% of the exhibitors come from abroad. Around 200 suppliers of products and solutions for safety-critical communication and property radio are expected at PMRExpo 2022. Two additional display areas for modern emergency vehicles – the Vehicle Areas – offer the opportunity for on-site visits. The focus will be on operational guidance vehicles (ELWs) equipped with extensive radio and communication technology.
